

TOURISTS' CARS ARE HELD UP BY GAS SHORTAGE

Phoenix Man On Coast Wires Of Situation And Warns To Turn Back All Motorists Headed In That Direction

With assurance from Manager Ferguson of the Standard Oil company that there was enough gasoline in Arizona for all purposes indefinitely, came a wire to the chamber of commerce yesterday from Roy Schlett at Long Beach, saying "Stop all headed this way."

The gasoline situation in California is reported as critical and that tourists are stalled and at the mercy of excessive prices. Neblett's wire follows: "Gasoline situation in California is terrible. Only 'essential machines' allowed gas. Hundreds of tourists tied in garage. Advise all coming this way not to come. All necessities and living expenses have been advanced a large per cent. My car had been in garage for five days without gas. Advise to stop all headed this way."

Mr. Ferguson, in a statement to the chamber of commerce, said every one of the 27 Standard Oil stations in Arizona were amply supplied with gasoline to meet all demands, with a reserve held constantly on hand in the event of an emergency. He said shipments were continuing regularly from the east for distribution among the Arizona stations. He said he could not see clear through the summer but believed that there would be enough gasoline to tide over the period of famine elsewhere.

At the chamber of commerce it was stated that the organization has halted several already about to leave for the coast. One man said he could not stay here, but had to make the coast at once. He was advised to carry all the gasoline he could to get him to Parker, then enough to get him to Barstow, and then enough to get him to Barstow. Beyond Barstow he must shift for himself. There is no known gasoline at Barstow, or any point between there and Needles. Therefore, one is said to take his life in his hands by leaving the state for the coast.

INTERESTING THINGS SEEN AT CONVENTION AT MOOSEHEART, ILL.

Hon. Frank W. Swenson has returned from Mooseheart, Ill., where he took part in the convention held by the Loyal Order of the Moose. The community of Mooseheart is unique. When members of the order die leaving dependent children the Moose lodge steps in and gives the children a home and education, both of which are of the best. At present 210 homeless boys and girls are being grown into useful men and womanhood. The Moose are prepared to give them high school education and each child may select a trade out of the 26 vocational courses taught.

An interesting reflection of the ideas of the Moose is their buildings which are thoroughly fireproof, sanitary and safe for children. All permanent buildings are made of concrete block and the rooms are bright, sunny and scrupulously clean. The concrete block is made at Mooseheart by students, and a great deal of the actual construction work is done by Mooseheart students under expert direction. They build their own homes and at the same time they learn a useful trade. Nationwide attention has been focused on the beauty and permanence of Mooseheart.

During the convention the $125,000 Philadelphia memorial hospital given by the Philadelphia lodge and built of the famous Mooseheart concrete block was dedicated. Funds were secured for five additional buildings. There were many interesting addresses, among which was one by Ambassador Sharp, who represents the United States government in France.

UNETHICAL CONDUCT IS CHARGE AGAINST CROAFF BY WOMAN

Declaring that T. J. Croaff, a practicing attorney in Maricopa county, has been guilty of fraudulent, dishonorable and unethical conduct, Mrs. Rose Gannon yesterday filed a complaint in the superior court asking that the court take action against Mr. Croaff in accordance with the Arizona statutes. Judge Lyman appointed a committee consisting of five practicing attorneys before the bar to investigate the charges of Mrs. Gannon and make a written report to the court. The committee will be sworn in July 21, after which the investigation will be made.

Mrs. Gannon alleges in her complaint that between Dec. 1, 1919, and Jan. 1, 1920, Mr. Croaff, acting as counsel for her husband, James F. Gannon, received certain sums of money from Mr. Gannon for her account. The money, she says, was to be paid over to her by Croaff whenever she should dismiss or procure the dismissal of certain suits pending against her husband in the courts of the county. Mrs. Gannon alleges that Croaff stated on many occasions to her and to her attorney that he had this money and would pay the same over to her when the suits were dismissed. The suits have now been dismissed, she says, and Croaff has been advised of this, but now, she declares, he refuses to pay the money to her or to her attorney, although demand has been made upon him many times.

The committee of attorneys appointed by Judge Lyman to investigate the charges against Mr. Croaff consists of E. W. Lewis, Walter Bennett, J. L. B. Alexander, Charles H. Ward and J. E. Nelson.

In regard to the charges filed by Mrs. Gannon, the following statement has been given to The Republican by Mr. Croaff:

"There is nothing in connection with the legal matters between Mrs. Gannon and her husband, wherein I acted as attorney for her husband, that I am ashamed of. I always acted for the best interests of my client, Mr. Gannon, and I will continue to do so regardless of the views of others. The facts when brought out at any fair and impartial hearing will justify my acts."

"It is rather interesting that these charges were not filed until after my announcement for judge of the supreme court. There is evidently a 'nigger in the woodpile,' and before the case is disposed of he will be smoked out. Mrs. Gannon is apparently being used as a cat's paw for some one else, and to that

FREE CLINIC BIG SUCCESS AND IS TO BE CONTINUED

Report Of 28 Days Of First Clinic Shows 468 Persons Examined—Thirty-three Physicians Take Part

Results of the recent experimental free clinic were so satisfactory that its permanent establishment is recommended by the Arizona Anti-Tuberculosis association in a detailed report submitted to the city commission. In its budget for the ensuing year the city has appropriated $300 for the use of the clinic.

The free clinic was opened in Phoenix on May 19 and closed June 19. During the 28 days the free clinic was in operation 468 patients were examined, advised and in the majority of cases given treatment. Thirty-three physicians gave their services to this work without pay. Nurses were provided by the state board of health and the Arizona Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Of the total number of patients examined 204 were found to be tubercular. These were classified into three groups: Active tuberculosis, 163; incipient tuberculosis, 23, and arrested, 18.

Few Able to Pay Physicians

Sufferers from adenoids and tonsil trouble claimed the next largest number of patients with a total of 86. One case of infantile paralysis was brought to the attention of the clinic and there were 10 patients found to be suffering from infectious diseases. As a result of examinations by the clinic 11 operations were performed and 12 patients were sent to hospitals.

In concluding his report to the city, T. C. Cuvellier, director of the survey, sums up its accomplishments as follows:

"The Phoenix survey clinic is regarded as a great success and has paved the way for the establishment of a permanent clinic."

Of the entire 468 applying for admittance to the clinic only 26 showed upon investigation they were financially prepared to engage physicians. Clinics will be conducted during the summer at Prescott, Clifton, Morenci, Douglas and other places to be decided upon later.

Whether the state land department has the right to grant "perpetual leases" will be determined at a meeting of the land board set for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the attorney some one else, whose identity will be disclosed later, I say in the words of Shakespeare: 'Lay on, McDuff, and damn'd be he who first cries, 'Hold! enough!'"

THOMAS J. CROAFF.

general will rule on this important question.

The policy of the department in granting renewals has been bitterly attacked by Governor Thomas E. Campbell, who is opposed to tying up the state land. The governor and Jesse Boyce, state auditor, believe there is a conflict in the law on this point, while other members of the board and W. A. Moeur, state land commissioner, hold that in renewing leases they have been governed solely by the statute and the constitution. While there are many important questions to be considered at the meeting, the same question is involved in all. This is the right of the former lessee to renew his lease.

Practically all opposition to the land department may be traced to this policy, which has been adopted by Mr. Moeur. It is claimed that comparatively all the state land is held by a few wealthy cattlemen, while the small man has no chance to secure a lease, the cattle raisers having secured millions of acres under a blanket lease and continuing to hold the land by renewals.

Although the matter has been in dispute for months, the attorney general, who is a member of the board, has not passed on the matter. At the June meeting he was asked to present an opinion at Tuesday's session.

HONOR CANADA WHEAT WIZARD

(Indianapolis News)
PRINCE ALBERT, Saskatchewan—Seager Wheeler, "wheat wizard of Canada," has had conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Queen's university, Kingston, Ont. "It was recognized," writes R. Bruce Taylor, president of the university, "that there was no way of setting a value on your service other than by some recognition of this kind. You have added enormously to the wealth of Canada and every settler is a gainer by your researches. What you have done can never be undone. It was felt that on no one could the LL. D. degree be more fittingly conferred and the degree is the highest honor in the power of the university to grant."

Mr. Wheeler has won five international championships with his wheat and many lesser honors, and holds the world's record of wheat production with eighty-two bushels to the acre. Though his improved varieties of wheat have made millions of dollars for Canadian farmers, he has remained in moderate circumstances. His farm near Rosthern, Sask., on the Canadian National Railway, consists of only 160 acres.

Indians in the northwest have formed a fishermen's union and as a result have realized richer returns from fishing proceeds.
